Fans Watch Water Polo Game At Athletic Park

Twenty-fifth Infantrymen Defeat All-Army Kellermans in Great Swimming Match Yesterday Afternoon—St. Louis Neptunes Take Advantage of Tide and Win from P. A. C. Squad—Trudgeon Strokes and Kahanamoku Style Used in Battle of the Aquatic Stars

Water polo is becoming quite a game these days. Yesterday afternoon a demonstration of the aquatic game was exhibited at Athletic park and the St. Louis Neptunes and the 25th Infantry men won out from the other aquatic teams. The score in the opening game was St. Louis 6, P. A. C. 1, and 25th Infantry 11, All Army 5. The two teams wore regulation baseball suits, but that was the nearest approach to the national game that could be discerned. Inasmuch as Jupiter Pluvius butted into the performance, and caused the players to change their game, it was not to be expected that a real baseball game would be scheduled.

In the first contest Barney Joy proved that he was an adept at the water game by holding the P. A. C. to four hits during the performance. The Saints started the scoring in the second inning when Barney Joy was safe, when Carroll got mixed up with a big wave. Then Franco came to bat and he hit the ball far out past the breakers and, using the trudgeon stroke, rounded second and dove in third station with the splashing of the waves, and Joy rounded the third buoy and came back safely to the plate. Souza was caught in the undertow and floundered around while Nye used the back hand to the first buoy and Franco crossed the plate.

Tide Favored Saints.
Dushnell was pitching good ball for a while, but in the seventh inning the St. Louis swimmers caught the tide and rounded the buoy four times while the elusive sky juice was causing much trouble to the fans in the bleachers. P. A. C. sent a swimmer around in the fourth canto when two of their aquatic heroes singled and one run came in. Easter had been practicing his crawl stroke for six innings in the harbor, and did not arrive until the seventh, but when he did mount the one dry spot in the amateur ocean he pitched good ball and held the St. Louis Kellermans to one hit. Lang Akana and Paul proved to be adepts at the Neptune game, each annexing two hits. Swan was in his element—he floated around and stopped seven hard hits that started out to sea.

Bad Day For Pitchers.
It must be certain that something was wrong with the aquatic manager of the 25th when Johnson was chosen to pitch at the beginning of the game when a Waterhouse was ready on a wet day. Johnston stayed around in the storm for a period and Waterhouse was picked to toss the ball across the foam. The name was good. For the balance of the game the All-Army could not fathom his ball and not a hit was made. Williams and Lawson were the men who performed for the All-Army squad in the pitching line.

In the first inning Hundley hit the ball to the surf and Smith dived for it and came up with a pebble, and Hundley was safe at the first buoy. Hundley went to second in the storm and came home when Holcomb hit the ball far out in the lagoon. Holcomb used the Australian crawl coming to the plate, but was caught out by the 25th wave stunner at the plate. Rogan was sent to first by a gift and used the overhand around the buoys when Crafton hit one that the All-Army fielder missed by being caught in the side. O. Johnson hit one out to sea and had rounded three buoys and was using the Kahanamoku stroke, but tried for home and was out by inches.

Out in the Deep.
In the fifth inning Crafton hit the ball and it sailed far out into the briny deep, and with easy strokes rounded all the buoys for a homer. Six more hits were gathered in the last two innings and when the game was ended the 25th merman had annexed 14 hits and 11 runs. Crafton was the star of the day with the willow gathering four hits and three runs in five times up. It was a good game of water polo. Twelve errors isn't any too much for a water polo game, but isn't quite the thing for a baseball game.

MILLS PLAYS GRITTY GAME AGAINST KAM. BUT ARE OUTCLASSED

Coach Barney's Mills School bantams put up the best game of their lives on Saturday when they met the heavy team from Kamehameha in a 32 to 0 defeat, and though the grit and plucky persistence they displayed could not make up for lack of weight, they showed that they are working together into a fast and scrappy bunch. Mills quarterback, M. Watada, was taken out of the game in the fourth quarter with a compound fracture of the leg, and is now in Queen's hospital. Hin Cher, a backfield man, got a nasty bump over the left eye in the same quarter, which put him out, also. August Puuki, Liberato Magpiong, Y. Segawa, Wan Chin and Sekuma put up a fine exhibition of the game against their heavier opponents. Mills was near the line twice. Once, within two yards of the goal they fumbled, and the other time with but four yards to go they failed to make yardage and lost the ball.

VANDERBILT ESTATE IN NEW YORK CITY IS TAXED AT $10,000,000

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Taxable personal property in New York city left by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who lost his life in the sinking of the Lusitania, has been assessed at $10,000,000 on the city tax books. The tentative personal property assessment against the estate of J. P. Morgan was placed at $3,000,000, while $4,000,000 was fixed for the estate of Charles G. Emery. Assessments against other estates were: Joseph Milbank, $3,000,000; John J. Astor, $1,000,000; Mrs. Frank

Cheering Section Punahou-Hawaii Game

Miss Mildred Manning, the classic dancer, has always been a lover of athletic sports, and in her home in Denver is known as a pit-in of football, tennis and golf. She has been in attendance at a number of the interscholastic games, and states that during her preparatory school days she was always in attendance at the games. It was the interest in athletics which first incited her to take up the dances which are now being taught in a number of schools throughout the country. The upper picture shows Miss Manning with a pennant as the Punahou fullback is being tackled by a College player. In the other picture Leon Ebersole, on the left, and David Withington, on the right, are seen in action during the Punahou students' put 'rope' pep in the yell, "We want a touchdown."

FORWARD PASS FEATURES BIG GAME SATURDAY

The outstanding features in the game on Saturday, when College of Hawaii defeated Punahou by a score of 15 to 13, was the work of the Hawaii boys in the forward pass, and the fight put up by Punahou after the college had apparently clinched the game in the first half. Punahou was evidently surprised at the forward pass plays of Dr. Peden's men, and had no defense planned for it. Punahou was weakened by the loss of Napthaa during part of the game, but Correa proved to be the big offensive star of the day, gaining first down on many occasions.

The Punahou team was evidently in better condition and proved that they were fighters all the way. Hippa played his best game of the year, while Smith and Norrie picked their holes well. Austin was a power on the defense for Hawaii, as time and again he spilled the opposing runner for a loss. On the offense he did not star as he has in other games, as Punahou planned their attack to stop him. Brash showed up well for Punahou, while Hicks was the big star of the Hawaii line, outplaying his opponents to a standstill. Lee at end was another star who won his laurels when he scored the winning touchdown.

The lineup follows:

HAROLD DILLINGHAM WINS YACHT RACE AT PEARL HARBOR SUNDAY

Harold Dillingham demonstrated yesterday afternoon that he was the best sailor at Pearl Harbor when six of the well known yachtsmen of Honolulu staged a race at the Peninsula. Some time ago orders were placed for seven boats, each to be a replica of the other. Harold Dillingham, Albert Afong, Albert Waterhouse, Robert Atkinson, L. M. Judd, Ed Hedemann and Walter Macfarlane were the men who ordered the crafts, but yesterday Macfarlane did not enter and the race was

PUNAHOU SCRUBS PLAY SCHOOL FOR BOYS TEAM TODAY

This afternoon at 3:30 the Punahou second team will play the Honolulu School for Boys aggregation of pigskin artists on Alexander field, Punahou. The Punahou eleven have not played for nearly two weeks, and are in tip-top form. The boys from Kamukahi have been practicing hard and expect to give the Buff and Blue aggregation a rub.

Punahou	Honolulu School.
Walker	Center
Alexander	Right guard
Pratt	Right tackle
Waterhouse	Right end
Rothschild	Quarterback

Tonight's lineup will be as follows: Service—Norris Stanton, captain; C. E. Goebig, Walter Treptow, Ed McTavish, Andrew Mosley, S. C. McCutchen and George C. Reed.
Nationals—H. S. Canario, captain; A. T. Young, A. A. Ackerman, G. L. Dorre, L. H. Benny, George Morath and Lieut. G. S. Van Deusen.
A sextet affair. Harold Dillingham finished first by a close margin, Albert Afong was second, followed by Albert Waterhouse. Robert Atkinson, L. M. Judd and Ed Hedemann finished in the order named.

Mildred Manning Tells Story of Football Game

Classic Dancer at Bijou Gives Her Impressions of the Great Gridiron Sport from a Theatrical Standpoint—Disciple of Terpsichore Praises Work of Young Ladies in Cheering Their Teams on to Victory—Miss Manning Has Always Been a Lover of Football

By MILDRED MANNING
When I was asked to write a story of the Punahou-College of Hawaii game for the Star-Bulletin, I did not fully realize the qualifications necessary to perform the task, but as I have ever been a lover of the game decided that I would at least do my best. During my life in high school and later in boarding school I was always an ardent fanette in all branches of athletics and the girls cheering at the games was one of the most pleasing features of our inter-school competition.
One of the outstanding features in a day of enjoyment was the spirit displayed by the young ladies. They cheered for the colleges and when the Punahou team was far behind the young ladies rose to the occasion and gave one of the best exhibitions of confidence in their team that I have ever witnessed. It was in my opinion one of the most pleasing incidents of the afternoon. And the players carrying the colors of Gold and Blue evidently appreciated the confidence placed in them, as they played excellent football during the latter part of the game.

First Act.
There were three stage directions on the scene, Lieut. McAndrews, Capt. Tryon and Lieut. Lyman. Then the principals and chorus ran on the field accompanied by the applause of the audience. Punahou players formed a line in the center of the arena, with the college boys far back. They placed the ball in the center of the stage, and one of the Punahou boys kicked the ball to the Hawaii leading man who was nice looking, and he ran with the ball until some rude man stopped him. The leading man's name was Mr. Stafford Austin. Then the juvenile Mr. Brash took the ball, but a number of the chorus on the other side, who was called the left guard, handled the juvenile rather roughly and Mr. Brown the co-star kicked the ball far down the field.

Mr. Lee, the leader of the Hawaii chorus, was very much up stage when he handled Mr. Napthaa, the Punahou juvenile, rather roughly and Mr. Correa, co-star, was finally obliged to send the ball towards the field where Mr. Austin was stationed, near the wings. Just as the ball—there was a young lady next to me that had the dearest hat. Another girl called her peggy. It was black and white and really looks like one of the "hits" of the year. Then the leading man, Mr. Austin, who was made up with heavy armor and a crimson jersey, caught the ball. One of the features that spoiled the play for Punahou in this act was the careless way one of the Punahou boys passed the ball back. They played back and forth with no apparent starting until the curtain came down with the honors even in the first act.
Second Act.
During the intermission no one went away but Mr. Davie Withington and Mr. Leon Ebersole were kept very busy rehearsing the audience for the next act. The stage director walked off in a group, and Dr. Peden, the managing director of the College of Hawaii, was coaching the company on their parts for the next act. Mr. Midkiff, the owner managing director, was telling some of the company that they had forgotten their lines. In the second act Mr. Hippa was very active in the first scene and took the ball about 27 feet. On the encore he managed to run about 23 feet. The best scene in this act occurred when Mr. Starratt received the ball from Mr. Brash and for a touchdown. Mr. Austin, who had about 31 aides during the performance, closed this scene by scoring a goal from placement.

Mr. Thurston, who made a nice appearance in his costume, made several good plays in this act. With Mr. Baldwin they crowded the opposing chorus far back on the scene, and stopped Mr. Spencer from getting a hand on three occasions. Mr. Austin had several lines here, and raced with the ball far down the field when Mr. Bromley—"Oh, Polly! Don't you think that white gown we saw the other evening with the scalloped double skirt" was becoming," said a charming young miss dressed in white, and I must confess that I listened, and I almost missed the great scene where Mr. Bromley stopped Mr. S. Austin from becoming a bona fide hero by stopping the Hawaii leading man from crossing the goal line. I must confess that I was not up stage on the next play but Mr. Correa was stopped by Mr. Starratt and some one called it a safety and when the second act closed, Dr. Peden was smiling and Mr. Midkiff looked sad. The score was Hawaii 9, Punahou 11. Third Act.

There was a long intermission here and the rain caused a flurry among the young ladies who were in attendance. During a period when the sun came from behind a cloud, a photographer snapped a bevy of pretty girls, when two or three were not looking. I had a Punahou pennant in this act, and was wishing that Punahou might be booked for a full performance. The Punahou company came in from the O. P. side, and my wish was granted soon as Mr. Correa and Mr. Napthaa played some wonderful parts, and threw their lines at this time and although Mr. Hicks, who had a strong part during the day, tried to stop them they ran far down the field with the ball. Mr. Napthaa went off stage with an injury at this time, and his understudy handled his lines well. Then the Punahou crowd was wild with joy when Mr. Correa dashed around the line and—"Oh, Miss Lighthouse, don't you think it's perfectly awful for that"—and I cheered as Mr. Correa made the first score for Punahou. Then Mr. Norrie, who was the understudy in the juvenile part, scored a big hit by stopping the ball that the college player had dropped and a little later Mr. Correa held his place as the leading man by making another score. Mr. Kaubani, who kicked the other goal, forgot his lines this time, and Punahou was in the lead and the two cheer directors acted like Croatoats.
Final Act.

Mr. Midkiff was smiling now and Dr. Peden wasn't, but the Hawaii company endeavored to demonstrate that they were still capable when Mr. Brash and Mr. Ballentyne starred. The scene during the last part of the act was between Mr. Brash and Mr. Lee, and they knew their lines well as Mr. Brash threw the ball to Mr. Lee in what someone said was the shadow of the goal, and although two Punahou players were there Mr. Lee arose to the occasion and was given the spot light when he scored for Hawaii. Mr. Austin could not kick goal and although Mr. Kaubani made a great effort to score as the curtain was going down, he ran out into the wings and the show was over with the College of Hawaii billed as the head liner.
The Punahou players were brave and true but they appeared to lack the ability to stop the ball when it was thrown by the other side. There was a man in the chorus, Mr. Gifford, who played well and never lost a line throughout the play. Mr. Noble was in the spot light as was Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Baldwin for the Blue and Gold company. Mr. Mott-Smith let the ball away on two occasions but was very active in the struggle scenes. Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Sanders had several bits that were well handled. It was one of the best games from an uncertain standpoint that I have ever witnessed, and reminded me of our Blue and Gold team on the mainland, playing the Crimson in the championship contest four years ago. The score was identical and there was much excitement, but although our crowd was much larger than in Honolulu, I must confess that the cheering of our young ladies could not begin to approach that of Saturday which will always be one of the most pleasing memories of Honolulu. As Mr. K. C. B. of San Francisco says, "I thank you."

BRAVES WIN AGAIN
The Young Braves won another close game from the Starlights yesterday afternoon at Nuanu park by a score of 10 to 3. John Goetz was the star for the Young Braves, striking out six of the opponents. The lineup of the winners was as follows: Julio Castro, c; John Goetz, p; Albert Goetz, 1b.; Charles King, 2b.; Louis Goetz, 3b.; Charles Taylor, ss; Arthur Perrier, rf; Frank Correa, cf; Alfred Routhling, lf.
